Rod Robinson is currently the Managing Partner of Accel Consulting Group, a management consulting firm that specialized in strategic sourcing and procurement-related services. Prior to founding Accel, he held finance and operations leadership roles at Cincinnati Bell including Chief Procurement Officer. Prior to Cincinnati Bell, Rod held leadership roles with several top consulting firms including AT Kearney and Accenture where he was a leader and subject matter expert in the Procurement Practice. During his consulting career, Rod was involved in sourcing and operations improvement initiatives that resulted in more $1 billion in savings delivered to his Fortune 500 clients.

"I got involved with NuWay after learning what a tremendous impact I could have on the lives of so many people. Clean drinking water, classrooms with blackboards (and books), infrastructure to support daily life...All the things we take for granted. NuWay is helping to make the world a better place, one village at a time."

*We can make a difference, together.
One person, one family, one village, at a time.*
